

Applications are now being accepted for one position at the assistant professor level at Aoyama Gakuin University in the School of Social Informatics (Sagamihara campus). (Starting date: April 1, 2016). Applicants should have at least a Master's degree (although preference will be given to Ph.D. holders) in TESOL/TEFL, Linguistics, Applied Linguistics, Communications, or related field, with at least three years of university teaching experience. This is a one-year contract which is renewable annually for up to three additional years (upon mutual agreement) as stipulated by Aoyama Gakuin regulations. Candidates will be mainly responsible for teaching courses in English communication and assisting in developing the undergraduate English language program in the School of Social Informatics. Application materials must be received by September 3, 2015 (deadline). For further information about the position and the application procedure, please check either of the following web links:

<http://www.aoyama.ac.jp/recruit/detail161.html>

https://jrecin.jst.go.jp/seek/SeekJorDetail?FA122EA3=9FF480AC3BFCA16B4E0339A577DB28C9&fn=3&dt=1&id=D115070902&ln_jor=1