Foreword

Judy T. Noguchi
Vice-President of JACET
(Kobe Gakuin University)

To JACET members and supporters,

Since June 22, 2015, JACET has been under the capable leadership of the 8th President, Hajime Terauchi. Over these two years, JACET has been reborn as an active professional organization with well-defined goals and stronger ties with its national and international affiliates.

The JACET tradition has been one of striving towards educational reform to improve the state of English language education in Japan. When President Terauchi took office, he reaffirmed the JACET Standard of being a professional association of teachers and educational researchers who work with students and contribute to improving their English abilities and fostering the development of global human resources. He also proposed three Action Plans: (1) improving the level of research and promoting its output and teaching outcomes, (2) activating and creating venues for collaboration among groups and organizations, and (3) revitalizing and clarifying the work of JACET and its activities.

To realize Action Plan 1, venues for presenting research at conferences and in publications have been offered, including novice researcher poster sessions and a series of “State of the Art” lectures to make members aware of up-to-date research in applied linguistics. JACET SIGs (special interest groups) have given poster presentations introducing their work at the International Conventions in 2015 and 2016 and can also present their work via the JACET website. In March 2016, JACET presented its report on global education practices at Japanese universities to MEXT (Ministry of Education, Culture, Sports, Science and Technology). Also in March, the New JACET 8000 word list was published.

For Action Plan 2, JACET has been conducting large-scale survey research at ten-year intervals to grasp the level of English education and student abilities. The JACET Survey Committee on English Education and the EAP Survey Committee are in operation from 2016 to 2017. JACET also works with domestic and overseas associations interested in education and applied linguistics. In 2015, JACET collaborated with CELEA (China English Language Education Association) and ALAK (The Applied Linguistics Association of Korea) to hold the AILA East Asia conference during the 54th International Convention (Kagoshima, 2015). In 2016, JACET sent delegates to the ALAK-GETA (Global English Teachers Association) Joint International Conference in Gwangju, Korea. JACET sends also delegates to and welcomes participants from AILA, RELC (Singapore), KATE (South Korea), ETA-ROC (Taiwan), MELTA (Malaysia), PKETA (South Korea), Thailand TESOL (Thailand) and JALT (Japan). In addition, JACET and MELTA (Malaysian English Language Teaching Association) have recently come to an agreement to have selected members mutually serve as reviewers of their respective journals.

Action Plan 3 is being realized through the revitalized International Conventions, Summer Seminars and English Education Seminars held annually. The JACET website has also been renewed (<http://www.jacet.org/>). Check out the website for past issues of the JACET Journal and Selected Papers from the International Conventions.

Another JACET tradition is the JACET Summer Seminar, each focusing on a specific area of language teaching. In 2015, the topic was blended learning and how to take advantage of mobile learning. The 2016 Kyoto University event focused on EAP (English for Academic Purposes). The Summer Seminar planned for 2017 will be held at Waseda University on the theme of “English as a Lingua Franca (ELF) in the globalized world: Research and implications for practice.” English Education Seminars from 2016 to 2018 have been planned to support college English education.

Recent JACET International Conventions were held at Kagoshima University in 2015 on the theme of “Intercultural communicative competence and English language education in a globalized world” and at Hokusei Gakuen University (Sapporo) in 2016 on “Designing English education in a borderless era.” The theme for the 56th International Convention to be held at Aoyama Gakuin University in Tokyo from August 29 to 31 is “English in a globalized world: Exploring lingua franca research and pedagogy.”

To serve its some 2,700 members, JACET Headquarters works actively with its seven chapters: Hokkaido, Tohoku, Kanto, Chubu, Kansai, Chugoku-Shikoku and Kyushu-Okinawa.

As the world becomes increasingly more interconnected through business and economic transactions, as people become increasingly more mobile and travel around the world for work and pleasure, and as the World Wide Web enables instantaneous communication and connection with people everywhere, the need for language education increases. When searching for a mutual language, English is often the choice because of its widespread usage and “neutrality” when serving as the bridge for speakers of other languages. Today, there are more nonnative speakers of English than native speakers. This raises the question of what target models we English teachers should choose for our students.

Teaching a living language for effective communication in a complex society is a challenging task. Communication that “works” takes into consideration the audience and the situation in order to achieve the intended effect. The actual language used may be a form of EIL (English as an international language) or ELF (English as a lingua franca). In other words, rather than aim for an ideal native speaker model, it would be more realistic to aim for a community-focused model which would match the target audience and situation. These are just some of the issues that a responsible English teacher needs to consider. Professional support to find viable solutions comes from JACET activities and venues for communication among its members and with interested professionals in other organizations.

Thank you for your continuing support of JACET. We look forward to working with you as we strive to educate the students who will create the society of this rapidly developing 21st century.
