

JACET 44th SUMMER SEMINAR

2017, Tokyo

*English as a Lingua Franca in the globalized world:
Research and implications for practice*

Dates: Saturday, August 26 – Sunday, August 27, 2017

Venue: Waseda University (Main Conference Room, 4th floor, Bldg.11 Waseda Campus)

PROGRAM OUTLINE

Saturday, August 26th

10:00 Registration
10:45 Opening/Orientation
11:00 Lecture 1: Barbara Seidlhofer
12:30 Lunch break
(Publishers' exhibitions)
13:30 Lecture 2: Henry Widdowson
15:00 Poster session
16:00 Lecture 3: Kumiko Murata
18:00 Dinner event

Sunday, August 27th

10:00 Lecture 4: Barbara Seidlhofer
11:30 Poster session
12:30 Lunch break
(Publishers' exhibitions)
13:30 Lecture 5: Henry Widdowson
15:00 Closing ceremony

INVITED SPEAKERS & LECTURE TITLES

Dr. Barbara Seidlhofer (Univ. Prof. of University of Vienna, Austria)

- Lecture 1 Taking stock: English and globalization: the challenge of change
- Lecture 4 Looking ahead: prospects for the study of English as a lingua franca

Dr. Henry Widdowson (Hon. Prof. of University of Vienna, Austria)

- Lecture 2 What does the E in TESOL stand for?
- Lecture 5 Lingua franca and lingual capability: the pedagogic implications of ELF

Dr. Kumiko Murata (Prof. of Waseda University)

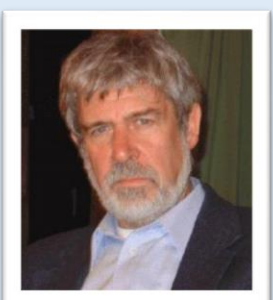

- Lecture 3 The realities of the use of English in the globalised world and the teaching of English: a discrepancy?

INVITED SPEAKERS

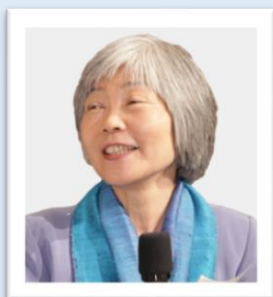

Barbara Seidlhofer
(University of Vienna)

Barbara Seidlhofer is Professor of English and Applied Linguistics at the University of Vienna. She is the founding director of the Vienna-Oxford International Corpus of English (VOICE) and founding editor of the Journal of English as a Lingua Franca. Her research and teaching focus on the sociolinguistics of ELF, intercultural communication and multilingualism and their implications for teacher education.

Henry Widdowson
(University of Vienna)

Henry Widdowson is Professor Emeritus, University of London, and Honorary Professor at the University of Vienna. He was a founding editor of the journal Applied Linguistics and for thirty years the applied linguistics adviser to Oxford University Press. A central interest in his work has been the relationship between linguistic description and language pedagogy.

Kumiko Murata
(Waseda University)

Kumiko Murata is Professor of English and Applied Linguistics at the School of Education and the Graduate School of Education, Waseda University. Her research interests, apart from ELF, include conversation and discourse analyses, pragmatics, intercultural communication and language teaching. Her most recent edited book is Exploring ELF in Japanese Academic and Business Contexts (2016, Routledge).

Participants: JACET members and anyone interested in the theme of this seminar

Number of participants: 130 (Accepted on a first-come, first-served basis)

Application deadline: Friday, July 7, 2017 (Postmarked)

Applications will be closed upon reaching 130 participants.

Late applications will not be accepted.

Seminar participation fee: 11,000 yen (Graduate/Undergraduate students: 1,000 yen)

Further information is available on the JACET website at <http://www.jacet.org/news/summer-seminar/>.

JACET Headquarters

Phone: 03-3268-9686

Email: jacet@zb3.so-net.ne.jp