MA or PhD in TESOL or a related area

Three years of experience in teaching at the university level

-Preference will be given to candidates

(1) with experience/background that indicates an ability to teach Asian students (esp. Japanese and Chinese) effectively;

(2) who will willingly and actively participate in university-wide/departmental duties/events, including Open Campuses, entrance exam marking/interviews, extra lectures for publicity; and

(3) who have an extensive knowledge of TOEFL(ITP/iBT) and IELTS and experience in teaching courses for these tests.

Application Materials: Applications should include

(1) a letter of interest addressed to the Search Committee,

(2) curriculum vitae,

(3) names, positions, and contact details for two references,

(4) a scanned copy of your highest diploma

Send applications to: faculty.search\_eng@ygu.ac.jp

After screening of submitted documents, short-listed candidates will be contacted by November 30, 2018 in order to arrange a face-to-face interview on campus or Skype interviews for applicants residing outside of Japan. Candidates should provide their current contact information, including telephone number and email address.

Successful candidates will become full-time regular members of the faculty at the rank of lecturer or higher, depending on qualifications and experience.

Appointment generally begins on April 1, 2019.

Salary and benefits are commensurate with experience and academic background. Benefits are based on regulations of Yamanashi Gakuin University.

Additional Information: Yamanashi Gakuin University (YGU), a private university, was established in 1946. The campus is located near Mt. Fuji at the center of Japan's winery industry, with panoramic views of Japan's Southern Alps. All courses in the iCLA curriculum are taught in English.
